We hardly know what to say as we are quite busy and news is not very plentiful.

Mr. G. W. Ross, of this place, was called to Byesville last week on account of the serious illness of his father, Mr. John Ross.

William Parks recently had business at Murray City.

Arthur Christian, of Longstreth, was seen here last Friday evening.

Miss Blanche Minner, of Nelsonville, spent part of last week here.

Miss Bertha Stevens, of Logan, is spending several days with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Green, Sr., of this place.

Earl Carter, of Sand Run, was here last Saturday evening.

Lesley McAllister was in Nelsonville last Friday.

Adam Lennell is having a dwelling house built on his lot near his home.

John Green will also have a house built as soon as the weather settles.

Albert Smith, who got hurt in the mine near here sometime ago, has returned home from the hospital and on his road to recovery.

Webb Dawley is moving his sawmill on the Kessler farm near here, where he has quite a large contract of sawing for John Lax, who is opening a new coal mine. When the mine is complete it will be pick work, and will be one of the finest little mines in all the valley. The work is being over-seen by Mr. John Lax, who don't only draw the pay for bossing, but who really is the boss. We have had some dealings with him within the last two months, and found him to be a man of his word in every way, not promising anything and then doing another.

Don't forget that Rev. C. B. Thompson will begin a series of meeting in the Christian church here, March 21st. Be sure and hear a man that "hews close the line and lets the chips fall where they may." So if a chip strikes you get out of the way before the second chip has a chance to hit.

UNCLE HEZ.

South Perry

The oil excitement in Laurel township has been the cause of several acres being leased in the township, and more tracts of land are being sought after. The terms of the company working this territory are not exactly what the farmers want and are holding for better offers.

George Criglow is again wrestling with his old enemy, the gripe.

J. W. Weaver, of Columbus, was at this place several days last week on business.

Wm. Cave attended the funeral of his son-in-law, Mr. Pierce, that occurred at Cola, Sunday. Some of our citizens are pushing what is purported to be a good road movement, and are circulating a petition and subscription for which they subscribe and ask that the commissioners give or allow a sum in proportion to amount subscribed. The condition of the roads for the past three weeks appealed to the better judgement, and everybody interested should help to push it along after a correct basis and understanding is once established.

Barbara Notestone, who has been sick for the past several weeks, is making some improvement.

Sugar Grove has produced another man party science in the pugilistic art. He had an altercation with one of his fellow townsmen and seemingly seeing the way clear to poke him one in the jaw, he began to wield his dukes frantically in the surrounding atmosphere until he thought he saw the way clear to let her go, and when he landed, his fist came in contact with a column of the post office building, where just an instant before he saw a man standing. The blow dealt the building caused the post master and assistant to come tumbling out of the building laboring under the belief that a cyclone had struck the town, but later learned what occurred. The pugilist now carries his "loving" in a sling and experiencing much annoyance from misery, caused from a misguided punch which he intended to land on the cranium of another. It would be advisable for him to spar a few rounds with Dave Bauer who is far advanced in the science of self defense.
